EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

Applicant's amendment and response received on 5/2/05 has been entered. Claims 2-6, 10-14, 17-18, 22, 24-47, 50-54, 56-57, 59, and 61 are canceled. Claims 1, 7-9, 15-16, 19-21, 23, 48-49, 55, 58, 60, and 62 are pending in the instant application.

The rejection of claims 1, 7-8, 15-16, 20-21, 23, 48-49, 55, 58, 60, and 62 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) over Fong et al. in view of Sturmhoefel et al., and the rejection of claim 19 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) over Fong et al. in view of Sturmhoefel et al. and further in view of Whitley et al. are both withdrawn in view of the evidence submitted by the applicants that the Sturmhoefel et al. reference, although bearing a publication date of October 1, 1999, was not actually mailed until October 4, 1999, such that it could not have been received by the public before October 5, 1999, applicant's priority date. The evidence submitted includes an email from Morgan Robinson, a representative of the AACR, the publisher of Cancer Research. The examiner also contacted Morgan Robinson by phone and verified that in fact no copy of the October 1, 1999 issue of Cancer Research was mailed before October 4, 1999, or was otherwise made available to the public, for instance by online publication. As such, applicant's argument that Sturmhoefel et al. does not qualify as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) is persuasive. Further, absent the teachings of Sturmhoefel et al., Fong et al. by itself, or as supplemented by Whitley et al. does not teach or suggest expressing B7-1-Ig or B7-2-Ig using a recombinant Herpes Simplex Virus vector.

Art Unit: 1632

It is further noted that while plasmid constructs encoding B7-1-Ig or B7-2-Ig were reported in the prior art, the prior art only suggests expressing B7-1-Ig or B7-2-Ig in tissue culture cells in vitro, and does not teach or provide motivation for administering nucleic acids encoding B7-1-Ig or B7-2-Ig in vivo or for expressing B7-1-Ig or B7-2-Ig using HSV vectors. Further, Fong et al., while teaching HSV vectors encoding wild type B7 molecules useful for in vivo administration to treat cancer, does not teach or suggest using a soluble form of B7 or specifically B7-1-Ig or B7-2-Ig. As such, claims 1, 7-9, 15-16, 19-21, 23, 48-49, 55, 58, 60, and 62 are considered free of the prior art of record and allowable at this time.

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Stephen Bent on 7/19/05.

The application has been amended as follows:

1. On page 1, line 1 of the specification, the following paragraph has been inserted:

This application claims benefit of priority to provisional United States application 60/157,787, filed on October 5, 1999.
